

Anatomic Pathologist (m/f) in France

Description de l'emploi

Job Profile:
Anatomic Pathologist I
Grade:
700

The majority of the pathologist's duties involves, but is not limited to, providing clients with diagnostic evaluations in the area of clinical or anatomic pathology and providing necessary follow-up consultation. A high level of importance is placed on quality, timeliness, customer service, effective verbal, written and interpersonal communication skills.

IDEXX has an opportunity for an Anatomic Pathologist to join our FrenPathology Team.

As a virtual Anatomic Pathologist with IDEXX, you will work from the comfort of your own home, providing quality diagnostic services for our clients in a timely manner, as well as follow-up consultations, as needed. In this role, you will also promote the growth of IDEXX by actively participating in pathologist meetings and developing and maintaining professional relationships/contact with clients.

At IDEXX, we understand the importance of continuing to grow and learn in your profession. You will have the opportunity to maintain and develop your diagnostic skills through regular continuing education, and will collaborate with your colleagues frequently through consultation and regular rounds sessions.

What do you need to be successful in this role?

- Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (DVM), or equivalent degree required
